THE 1951 SCOTTIE STAFF, SCOTTTDALE, PENNSYLVANIA

PROLOGUE

As the day approaches when we, the Class of 1951, will graduate, we realize for the first time that the period spent in dear old Scottdale High School has been very happy and far too brief. Many memories of our junior and senior high school days keep forcing their way into our thoughts. Never to be forgotten will be those English classes of Mr. Snader where we discussed everything from nuts and bolts to the atomic theory. We'll always remember the thrill of those gridiron battles, the charged atmosphere in the Armory during the last seconds of a hard-fought basketball game, wearing our class rings for the first time, slipping into our assembly seats five minutes late, the tense moments before the curtain rose for the opening scene of the class play, and—well, we could go on forever! To every member of our class, these experiences mean high school. They remind us of friendships we made, fun we had, dreams we shared. To help us remember our last year in Scottdale High School even more clearly than the others, we decided to keep a diary. As you read our diary and look at the pictures in our album, you are reviewing with us the high lights of our senior year. This book is not intended for posterity; it is simply our way of trying to preserve the memories of the most wonderful time of our lives. This then is our diary.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. PUFF

We are proud to have as the superintendent of our schools, Dr. Clinton M. Puff. His most sincere wish is that some time in the near future Scottdale High School may have adequate facilities to carry out the program required in an accredited high school. It was at his suggestion that the School Board authorized the evaluation of our high school last November. Not only has he worked tirelessly to improve the Scottdale schools, but he has won recognition both for himself and our school by acquiring his Doctor of Philosophy Degree.

MRS. KIMBALL

MR. BYERS

A friendly smile or a jolly hello from our principal, Mr. E. M. Byers, was enough to start the day just right for all of us in spite of overwhelming assignments or any of the other problems which we had during our senior high school days. Whether we wanted our schedules changed or sought advice about an extracurricular activity, he was always ready to help. In his office we found a cheerful atmosphere that contributed much to the happiness of our high school days.

Dear Diary....

WE REMEMBER

OFFICERS

President ED YODER
Vice-President BILL NICKLOW
Secretary ELINOR PETERSON
Treasurer ANNA MARY COSSEL

SENIORS

Ed Yoder, that human dynamo, again proved his popularity when he was elected president of the senior class. It was just old stuff to him; he had been our junior class president, too. We may be prejudiced, but we think he was the best president of the best class ever to graduate from Scottdale High.

Bill Nicklow really hit a high note on his cornet when he learned that he was senior class vice-president. He was the tall guy who spent the football season in the band, and basketball season racking up points for the Scottie basketeers. Any way we looked at it, Bill was tops!

A record of three consecutive years as Class secretary was Elinor's! That is proof of her popularity with her classmates. Her minutes were short, but the hours she spent coaching the cheerleaders were long. She counted the seconds until graduation!

Anna Mary Cossel first made her bow into the realm of class officership when she was elected class treasurer. She handled our nickels and dimes with such care that it was possible for us to donate all of forty-eight cents to the student activity fund after graduation! Whew! Just made it! If it hadn't been for Anna Mary's careful management, we might still be sitting at S.H.S. thinking up ways to balance our budget!

We're proud of our class officers. They guided us through the most important year of our high school career. We wish them continued success in leadership.

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—oh you, who sorrowfully yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead—he is just away.

JUNIOR CLASS INTRODUCTION

Our "Jolly Junior" friends have really been on the ball this year. They slaved over their magazine sales, and pestered every housewife from here to Podunk for subscriptions. Maybe they didn't break any records for salesmanship, but they certainly succeeded in laying away a very neat little nest egg in their junior class treasury.

If we seniors remember correctly the most important happening of our junior year was the "Class Ring Episode." The seniors of '52 seem to enjoy wearing their rings equally as well. For some reason, students assume a more important status the minute they slip those carefully chosen bands of gold on their fingers. Suddenly, they aren't just underclassmen. They are the future seniors!

For the first time in their young lives, the juniors became aware of certain hidden dramatic abilities. The class play try-outs, the many rehearsals, and finally the presentation of the play were experiences they would never forget.

Taken all in all, the junior class had a terrific year!

SOPHOMORES

Freckle-faced freshmen became bewildered sophomores when they moved to the white building across the street. With dazed expressions, they wandered around the halls of senior high school. But within a few days, they discovered the biology lab, got their first assignment in history, and learned the tragic things that can happen when they tried to go up the "down" steps. In short, they felt right at home.

During the first days of Tri-Hi-Y initiations, very few of us knew what the sophomore girls really looked like! To our great relief we later discovered that they were all perfectly normal American girls.

In November at the sophomore assembly, the entire student body of Scottsdale High had an opportunity to appreciate the various talents of this class. Will we ever forget their fashion show? Will the sophomores ever forget their first year in senior high school?

The Scottie 1950 grid squad, coached by Ray Ronco, Walter Keibler, and Melvin Wingrove, got off to a successful start by trouncing the Perry Admirals 31-0 at the home stadium on September 8. Jimmy Price made the initial tally on a 60-yard end-around play. The hard-charging Scottie line chalked up scores in each succeeding frame. The game was highlighted by Milt Walker's last-quarter bootleg play which was good for an 86-yard touchdown.

Traveling to York Run for the second tilt of the season, the Scottie varsity went down to defeat. A 39-yard aerial near the end of the first half gave Georges a 7 to 0 victory. The Scotties were hampered to a great extent by fumbles and a tight York Run secondary defense. In the third period Monroe Gainey went from his own 40 to the Georges' 20 where he fumbled and Georges recovered. The last half was scoreless.

Scottdale captured the second win of the season by defeating Freeport 26-7. Federici was the big gun in the Scottie attack, hitting pay dirt three times. He first tallied in the second period on a pass from Gainey. Jimmy Price made the second touchdown on the first play of the second frame. After a Freeport score in the third period, another pass by Gainey to Federici accounted for the third Scottie score. The climax of the game came when Federici scored from the three-yard line after a brilliant 22-yard run by Price.

With two wins and one loss, the Scotties entered the game with the West Newton Hornets and got the surprise of the season when their alert opponents played them to a 6-6 deadlock. The only Scottie score was tallied by Federici in the second period. Scotties had a total of ten first downs against four for West Newton. Great line play by both teams featured the game.

The Ramsay Bobcats were heavy favorites over the Blue and White squad in the fifth gridiron battle of the season played at Mt. Pleasant. Early in the first quarter, a Bobcat fourth-down gamble on their own 25 failed and the Scotties turned the break into a touchdown, when Federici dashed over from the six-yard marker for the lone score of the game. A 27-yard sprint by Federici near half-time brought Scotties to the Ramsay five but they lost possession on downs. Mt. Pleasant scored twice in the second frame and once in each of the following periods, defeating the Scotties 26 to 6.

In the encounter with the Mountaineer gridders at Somerset on October 13, Scottdale was defeated 28-6. From the opening kickoff the offensive strength of the Somerset eleven was a serious threat to the Ronco men. Federici made the one tally by an 18-yard jaunt which climaxed a determined 68-yard drive by the Scottdale gridders.

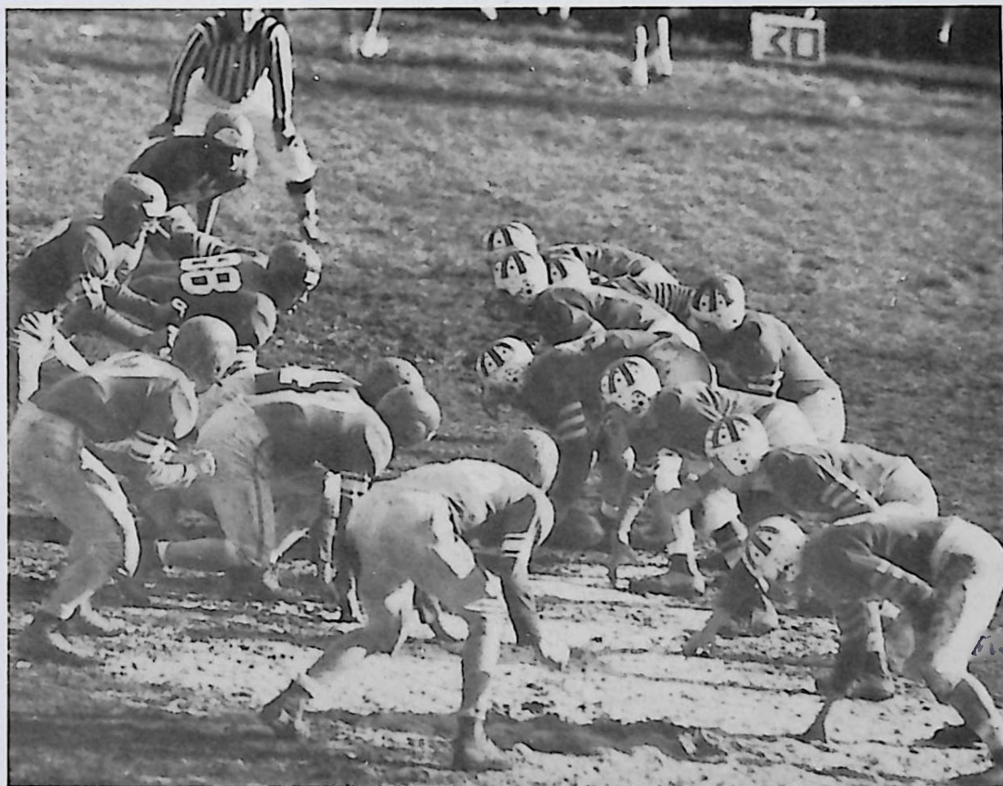

The Scotties dropped a heartbreaker to Blairsville on the home field, with the final score standing at 19-18. Near the end of the second period Federici plunged into paydirt after taking a pitchout from Walker. Jimmy Price scored twice in the third period by two sensational sprints. Extra point attempts failed and the Wildcats made the necessary point in their final tally to defeat the home gridders.

Hosts to the Dunbar Mules in the fourth home game of the '50 season, the Scotties trailed at first half by 19-0. Near the end of the third period Kurzeja scored the first touchdown which was touched off by a 26-yard punt return by Price and a sustained Scottie drive. Early in the fourth period, Federici sped 48 yards to the Mule 11 and scored from the 6-yard line three plays later. A 75-yard drive netted the third touchdown which was made by Kurzeja with Gainey's placement tying the game at 19 all.

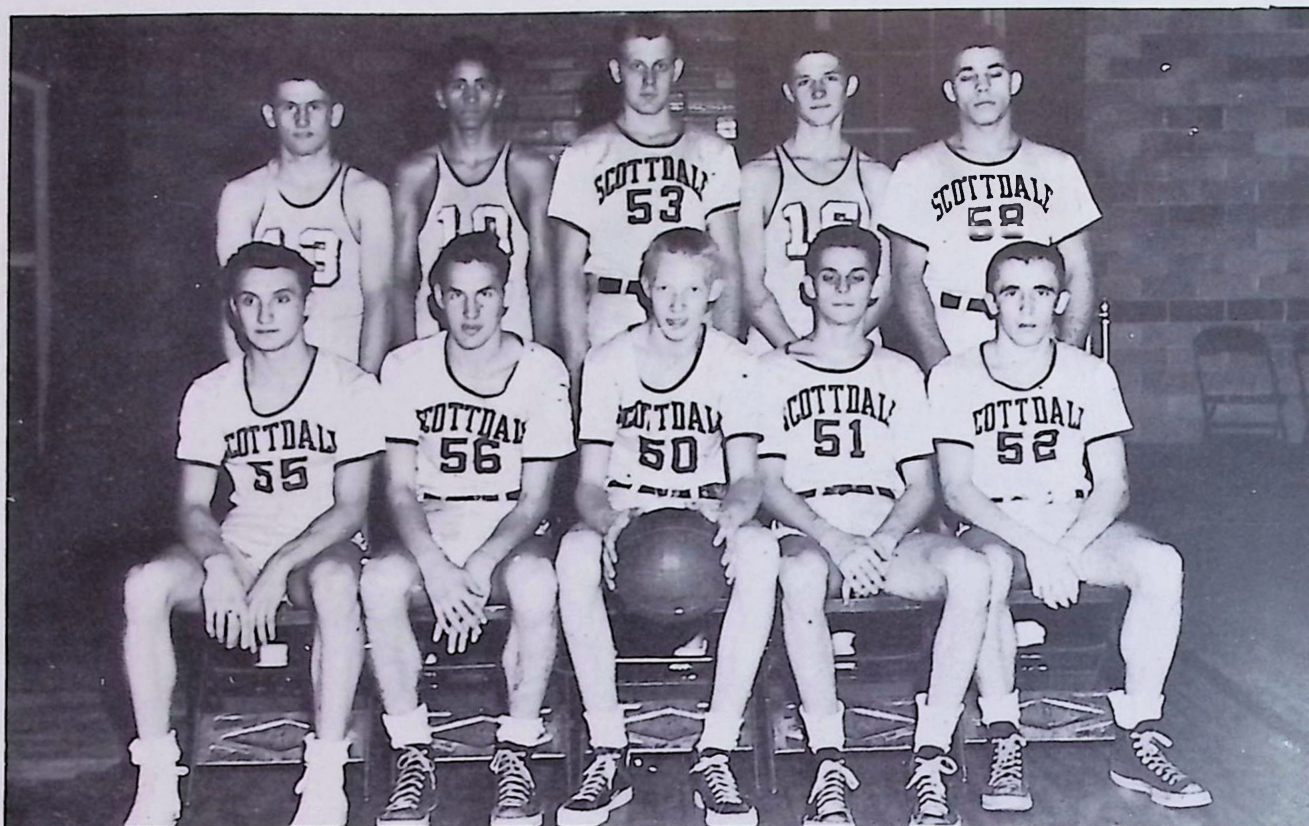

Battling the Bull Dogs on a wet home field, the Blue and White squad dominated the game throughout. In the fourth quarter the Scotties marched to the East Huntington 7-yard line only to lose the ball on downs. The payoff came in the last 58 seconds of play when Gainey's 8-yard aerial to Jimmy Price in the end zone netted the lone touchdown of the game. Placement by Gainey was blocked, making the score 6-0 in favor of Scottdale.

The Armistice Day grid battle with Hurst's Scarlet Hurricanes on the home field drew the curtain on the Scottdale 1950 football season. The Scotties really played Hurst to a standstill before losing the nip-and-tuck ball game. Although Hurst scored in the first period the Scottie line held in the next period in spite of two more serious threats. The third period went scoreless with each team exchanging punts. In the fourth quarter the Scottie eleven put together a 93-yard drive with Federici plunging over from the nine-yard line for the touchdown. As time ran out, two final desperation passes failed and Scottie hopes went down with them, the final score of the last game of the season standing at 9-6 in favor of Hurst.

Will we ever forget those hectic moments at the basketball games of the 1951 season? "Ouch! Someone stepped on me!" "Why do some people always come late?" "Lady, will you move over? You're sitting on my coat?" And of course, we always expected knees gouging into our backs, but the last straw was getting hit with the ball when it bounced into the bleachers. We wouldn't have missed a game, though, and when our players started to rack up points, we yelled ourselves hoarse. We even forgot to breathe when our team had a lead of just a point or two with only a few seconds to play.

We can still hear the cheerleaders whooping, "Come on, Scottdale! We want some action!" And action, plenty of it, is what they got before the game was under way many seconds.

Our senior hoopsters led off and gave us many proud moments. Tall lanky Bill Nicklow, our high-ranking letterman, playing at center was an expert on rebounds and was a constant threat in the scoring department. Jerry Basinger, playing pivot position, seldom failed to keep us happy by piling up the score. And a real speed merchant was that boy, Dave Shively. From anywhere on the court, Shive's shooting ability could be counted on. It was really uncanny. Excellent on defense was Fred Zemanek, "Abe" to us. His one-handed push shot could be counted upon to tally points for our side. It was his first year on the varsity, too. And our mighty mite, Jay Schroyer, helped our team many a time with his timely baskets. Emilio Federici and John Lowry were excellent substitute material and gave a good account of themselves when given the chance. The student manager was also a member of our class, no other than our class president, Ed Yoder.

Eugene Moffett and his assistant, Walter Keibler were tops as basketball coaches. And, of course, no game was complete without young Gene Moffett, Scottie mascot, who was the team's most loyal fan.

CHEERLEADERS

(Yea team! Fight! Fight! Fight!)

We can still hear the Scottie fans cheering, Diary, as our eight peppy cheerleaders led the Scottie band down the field. In their blue and white outfits they proudly symbolized Scottsdale High. Freezing during the football season, sweltering at the basketball games at the Armory, they took all temperatures in stride and led students in cheers for Scottie teams. Their loyal support both in defeat and victory kept school spirit high. Led by Elinor Peterson, who had a five-year record as cheerleader, they taught the Scottie students many new cheers during the 50-51 season and entertained the spectators with their whirls and antics.

*The team is in the huddle,
The captain's at the head,
They all got together,
And this is what they said:
"Let's go S-C-O-T-T-D-A-L-E-!
Get ahead!"*

*Fight, Scottdale, Fight,
Fight, Scottdale, Fight,
Sock 'em, bust 'em,
That's the custom,
Fight, Scottdale, Fight.*

These and many other cheers in their repertoire never before had such meaning for the Scottie fans.

HONOR SOCIETY

Remember, Diary, when we heard that first hushed whisper that the Honor Society was choosing new members? We were in our home-room study-hall, so we had to pretend we were still storing away knowledge, although for all we know at the time, Aristotle might have drafted the Magna Carta. The only thing we were conscious of was that haunting question, Will I make it? . . . The one answer we could give a fervent—Gee, I hope so! Then at last it was second period and we knew. We had made it! With that knowledge came just about the best feeling in the world, the kind of feeling that lifts you to the clouds and makes you a member of the Once in a Life-time Club. We knew, too, Diary, that burning the night light so often to keep our grades high had been worthwhile. We realized, too, that we had to study just as hard to be deserving of the honor we had received.

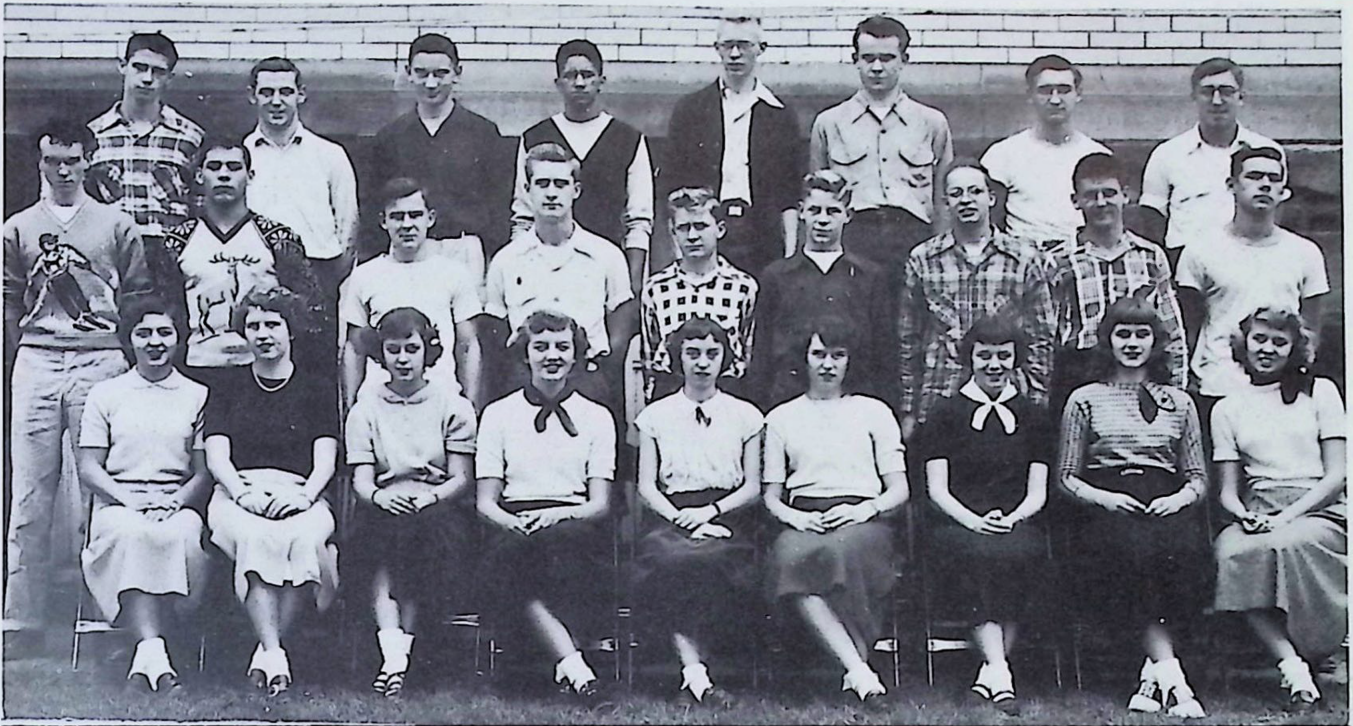

At the first meeting, we were told there would be no initiation, but that, instead, we were to get to work immediately. To prove his point, President Yoder passed out ten boxes of beautiful, rose-scented stationery to each of us. No one was allowed to leave the room until it was thoroughly impressed upon each mind that ALL of the stationery was to be sold by the end of the six-weeks period. Neighbors were besieged, relatives attacked, but sell them we would and sell them we did! The money thus gained paid for the seniors' emblems, and the wee sum remaining was donated to the rapidly growing fund for the master bell system.

Then in February came the Honor Society assembly. Those backstage antics of our stage-struck amateurs could only be described as riotous. Yet as a whole, our program was fine with a minimum of hectic last-minute changes.

While reminiscing, Diary, we might mention that we are proud to have been members of such an organization. Each time we see our emblems we recall the proud moments we experienced when we were named as members of the Scottsdale High School Honor Society.

Do you recall, dear Diary, a high tension, live-wire organization that roamed and governed the halls of S.H.S. this year? There's no doubt about it, we mean the Student Council. The sails of our ship of state were unfurled practically the first week of school, and except for a few windless days during vacations, we have been sailing ever since. At our first meeting, Captain Gaut briefed the crew on the purpose of our voyage, which was to better the school and incidentally to add some legal tender to the automatic bell system fund. Immediately we cleared the deck for action and submerged ourselves in our first big project—selling candy between periods. It really took less high pressure salesmanship than we had anticipated, and Mr. Swope soon bewailed the fact that his pupils had a greater appetite for Hershey bars than they had for bookkeeping.

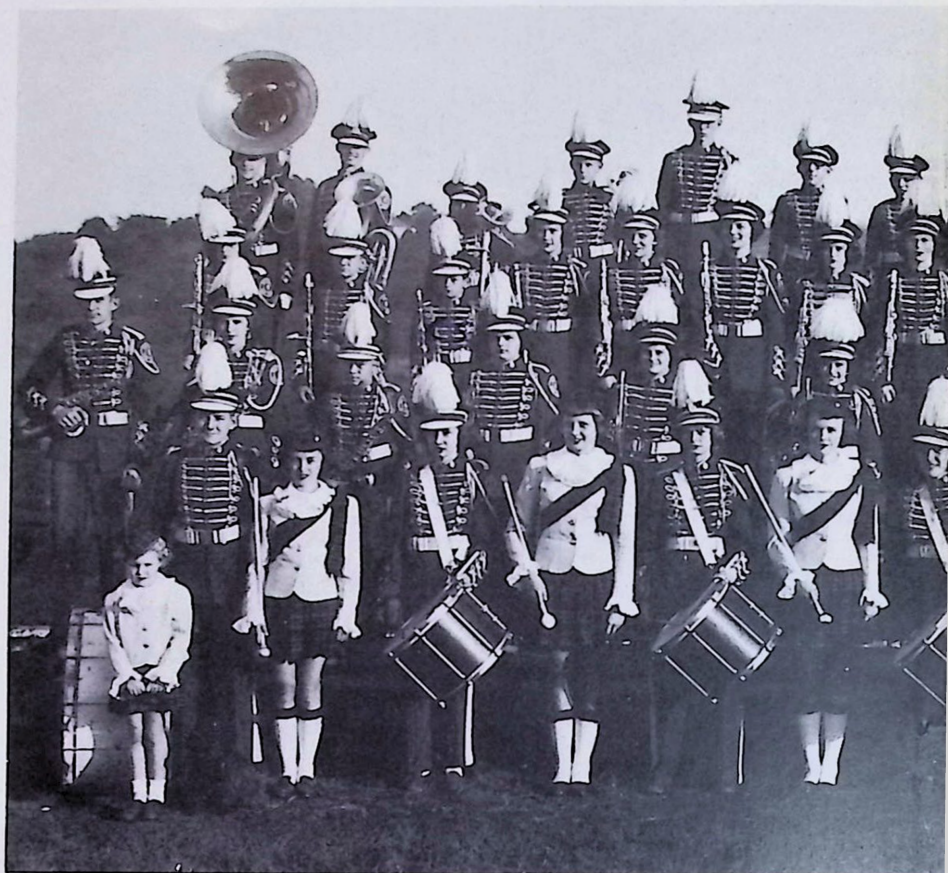

About the middle of the first semester, we received orders to turn our course due north where people might be in the market for a new blanket. The move was a wise one, for our barometer soon gave evidence of increased precipitation in the area immediately surrounding the treasury. On the basis of this excursion, we might also predict a few super-salesmen of the future.

Then, Diary, a few days before Christmas, we pulled into port and in the fore part of the lower deck, set up a Christmas tree unequalled in beauty by any we have ever seen. We'll admit that at first it looked as though it had a curvature of the spine, but, when the glittering decorations had all been cleverly placed, it looked as straight and stately as our own mast.

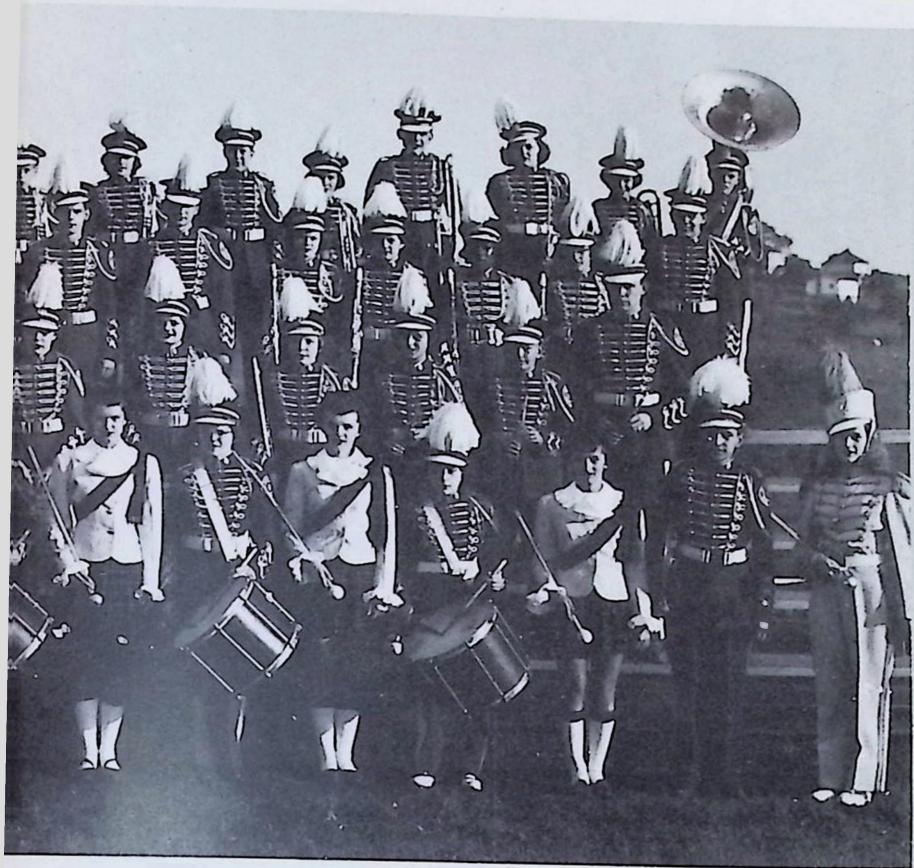

The second half of our nautical journey passed in much the same way as the first, weathering the big storms as well as the little blows. In June, when we tied up to the pier for the last time, we wondered if the next crew would love the old ship as much as we had.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Dear Diary:

Remember that balmy spring evening when the senior class presented Our Miss Brooks? Those last few moments backstage were terrifying, but somehow we survived to give a performance which in all modesty we must describe as smooth — with only an occasional rough spot. Secretly though, we think the play was stupendous. Miss Brooks' sarcasm and the hilarious situations she got herself and everyone else into kept the audience delighted from beginning to end. With Miss Brooks chasing the coach, the coach chasing his star athlete, Ted, and Ted trying to decide whether to chase Rhonda or Jane, you can imagine the laughs involved. The supporting cast was bubbling over with talent and, of course, we can't forget the enchantment provided by our three young lovelies in their filmy gowns. We had a gala evening when the hidden talent of our class was uncovered in one of the best senior class plays ever presented at Scottsdale High School.

Front row: D. Jackamonis, B. Hines, D. Fisher, P. Moser, S. King. Back row: N. Lowstetter, T. Schrecengost, G. Brennan, D. Hunker, J. Campbell, Miss Stoner.

From the haze of our high school memories, there emerges a jumble and avengeful ghost—a bleak chilling storm—several murders set in a desolate haunted mansion. O, yes, we can see it all clearly now—our Junior Class Play. The Clock Struck Twelve. And what a fast moving, thrilling mystery-farce it was! Yet, there was more to it than its spine-tingling aspects; there was the exact measure of comedy included to transform it into two hours of superb entertainment. The cast, as varied as Christmas dinner, ranged from a trio of human nightingales, to a correspondence detective, to poor demented John who loved to be chased. The remaining members of the cast, too numerous to mention, deserve a crown of laurels for the delightful supporting performance they gave. Before replacing our thoughts in our treasure chest labeled reminiscence, we'll just say the class play was fun, it was hard work, and, incidentally, we loved it.

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE

Dear Diary,

Well, another year at the little red school house has come to an end and guess what—we're kinda sorry! Of course, we wouldn't dare say that to anyone but you, dear Diary. The kids would hoot if they heard us. But we've been reminiscing, and the things we've remembered make us realize what fun school really was.

It's true we had work to do, plenty of it. In fact, sometimes it was pretty discouraging when we couldn't join the gang at the movies because of an assignment that just had to be done. But somehow the memory of all of that studying fades into the background now, and it's only the good times that we remember such as singing carols around the Christmas tree in the lower hall, each homeroom trying to surpass the other in the beauty of the Christmas decorations, the excitement backstage at an assembly, the fun decorating for a party.

And, of course, there were the new friends we made, and not just among the students, either. Most of us discovered that our teachers are not ogres or jailers and that we could count them among our friends, too . . .

. AND THE PEOPLE WHO WORK THERE

THE PRINCIPAL

MR. HOLLENBAUGH

. . . One of our favorite teacher-friends is Mr. Hollenbaugh, the principal of our junior high school. It's our guess he's a favorite with all the students, for everyone learned to know him. If they didn't meet him "officially" in the office (and believe me, that isn't always the best way to meet the principal) they were in his guidance class and became familiar with his quiet, authoritative voice as well as the twinkle in his eye. He could always be counted on to attend all our dances and parties, and we certainly appreciated that. Yes, Mr. Hollenbaugh was a good friend to all of us . . .

*President .. RICHARD DEMAGALL
V.-President .. RICHARD STONER
Sec.-Treas. VERNA KELLY*

. . . . In ninth grade our class increased to almost twice its former number with the enrollment of pupils from outside the district. When our entire group gathered together for election of officers, we realized what a gang of us there was. We did our voting and selected three grand kids for our class officers: Richard Demagall, president; Richard Stoner, vice-president; and Verna Jean Kelly, secretary-treasurer. The two Dicks and Verna Jean proved what we had suspected right along, that they are capable and dependable leaders . . .

EIGHTH GRADE

... The eighth graders tried to make us think they had become sophisticated over summer vacation, but it wasn't long before some of them gave themselves away. The kids all wondered whether or not the class clowns had reformed, but before a week was over, they had the classes howling and had a path worn to the office.

Eighth grade was very proud of its band members. On Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, first period (band periods) eight-one looked as if an epidemic had hit it, for half the class was at practice.

Other junior high activities appealed to eighth graders, too. Knipple, Honsaker, Lantz, and Banasick showed promise of being varsity football and basketball players in a few years. As reporter for the junior high page of the Scottie Revue, Priscilla Strabel kept the school well-informed of eighth grade doings, while Deidre Fox helped to produce the junior high section of the Scottie. Much of the success of the Student Council was due to the eighth grade representatives, Judith Mournal and Charles Grimm.

So we ninth graders feel we are leaving the school in good hands, and that there are capable students to take our places.

SEVENTH GRADE

... How grown up the seventh graders felt when they first entered junior high! All those new subjects like industrial arts crafts, and home economics gave them a feeling of importance. But when the novelty wore off, there was always something new to break the monotony of class routine. There was the election of home-room officers, mostly boys, as usual. Then came the naming of Student Council representatives, two boys and two girls: Tom Cunningham, Kendall Hernley, Mary Hoffman, and Dottie Kimball. But the girls finally came to the fore when Anton Wagner was made seventh grade reporter for the junior high page of the Scottie Revue, and Marjorie Osterwise was appointed to the junior high Scottie staff.

Early in the year two boys were found to have outstanding talent which caused them to be in constant demand for assembly programs. Barry Simmons surprised us all with his beautiful soprano voice, and Tom Cheesman put on quite a show with his magic tricks.

One and all, the seventh graders displayed their abilities, some in the band, some on the athletic field and in the gym, and others in planning and working out the activities that make school worthwhile

Stella, K. Hernley, H. Morris, J. Walters.

.... Yes, we certainly have had a busy time this year. Some of us studied pretty hard and some of us didn't, but we all worked enthusiastically to make the junior high dances, parties, games, and assemblies successful.

I remember how Student Council members were always running around trying to think up ways to make money. President, Clem Gatti and his fellow officers, the two Dicks, did a good job. Alice Bowman and Joyce Baird helped make money for Student Council despite the teasing they got about getting fat from sampling the candy they were selling.

Who could forget our parties? The Halloween party, in particular, was such fun with people dressed so silly you could hardly recognize anyone. There was such a mob that we had to have games going on upstairs, downstairs, and on both landings. Of course, at every party we got a kick out of the tricks some of the boys pulled to try to outwit the refreshment committee.

We were proud of our page in the Scottie Revue and knew that Margaret Yahner and her staff spent hours getting it ready. We were also pleased when we discovered that we were to have our own section in the Scottie, although that again meant hours of work.

Most of us had our turn on the platform for an assembly program. But whether we were on the stage or in the audience we enjoyed it and longed to have more programs.

How glad we were to hear, "Pep Meeting, second period." Our peppy cheerleaders, with Beverly Eicher and her band to help out, really made the rafters ring. That afternoon would see us streaming out of the junior high and over to the athletic field or down to the Armory. And did our boys play! We were really proud of them

The Scottsdale Junior High football team had a good season this year. They got off to a bad start, losing their first game to Vernon 9-0. Then they exploded, winning their next four games. They defeated South Huntingdon 18-0, East Huntingdon 13-0, and again South Huntingdon 24-6, closing their season by defeating Vernon 14-6. This year the team scored 11 touchdowns and 3 extra points for a total of 69 points to the opponents 21. The team this year is considered one of the best to play on the Scottsdale gridiron. We are hoping that the team next year will have as good a record.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

... Leading the cheers at football and basketball games and at the pep meetings preceding the games were our six loyal cheerleaders—Verna J. Kelly, Catherina Simmons, Sandra King, Jane Hough, Mary Hoffman and Mona Lee Sanders. Their rhythm and grace were the results of many practice sessions. Time after time as we'd hear Miss Wetzels, their sponsor, call "Try it again, girls. Keep together, and move your arms this way." Then she'd show them how a particular cheer should be done. When the cheer had been perfected and was introduced at a pep meeting, it really went over with the gang. The whirl of their full, royal-blue skirts made a pretty picture. Incidentally, the girls held quite a few dances to raise money to buy their new outfits. Our cheerleaders deserve plenty of praise for the wonderful job they have done in keeping our school spirit at high pitch.

... And now, dear Diary, I'll say good-night, for I want to look at some snapshots before going to sleep.

*Hep! Hep! Show your pep!
Ginger up and take a step!*

... Cheers rang out through the Armory those co-o-old winter nights as we crowded through the big doors. The basketball team was warming up. The spectators were rushing for seats. Then came the jump and the start of a game filled with thrills. Captain Stoner, with his teammates Farmer, Lewis, Viccy, Banasick, and Boyd, put his whole heart into the game. How the crowd yelled when the ball dropped through the hoop! How they groaned when it missed! At half-time the place went into an uproar as the players went to the showers, small boys took their places to play basketball with someone's cap, the cheerleaders of the two schools exchanged places, and everyone rushed to get a candy bar. Such noise and confusion! Then came the second half which was even more exciting than the first. When the final whistle blew, most of us could hardly speak because of the cheering we had done ...

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1951

Late of Scottdale High School, Scottdale, Pennsylvania, County of Westmoreland.

We, the Senior Class of Scottdale High, being of sound mind, memory and understanding, do make and publish this our last Will and Testament, hereby revoking and making void all former Wills by us at any time heretofore made.

First—We direct that all our just debts and expenses be paid and satisfied as soon as conveniently may be done after our graduation.

Second—We give and bequeath to the sophomore class Miss Stoner's hilarious antics and jokes.

Third—We do hereby declare that all debris found in desks becomes the sole property of the janitor.

Fourth—And to the super-sleuth who is able to unravel the mysterious disappearance of our unofficial class flag, we hereby bequeath it.

Red background, white numerals, and a devil's head mounted in the center.

Clue:

Last seen in Mr. Ronco's homeroom. And the culprit who "acquired" it, we hereby sentence to thirty days' hard labor in "Siberian Study Hall."

Fifth—And to those numerous slaves of nicotine, we give and bequeath that said portion of the basement currently known as the furnace room, where all the smoke doesn't go up the chimney.

Sixth—And to all future classes of Scottdale High we leave our cherished hopes and dreams of Scottdale High School's proposed gymnasium and auditorium, and hope that said dreams may someday materialize.

Seventh—We give and bequeath to future Student Council members of said school our antiquated records (Thomas Edison's originals) which have been played for many years at the Friday night dances at the Y.

Eighth—We leave our sacred right to petition to any member of the junior class who proves himself worthy of said honor.

Ninth—To Mr. Byers we leave the almost superhuman task of governing Scottdale High School without the help of the Seniors of '51.

Tenth—To Miss Loucks and Mr. Seese, our yearbook advisers, we express our deepest appreciation for their friendly advice and long hours of hard work, both of which have contributed greatly toward making the Scottie of 1951 a success.

We do hereby make, constitute, and appoint the Class of 1952 to be Executors of this our last Will and Testament.

In witness whereof, we, the members of the graduating class of 1951, have hereunto affixed our seal, on this the first day of June in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty one.

EPILOGUE

You've read our most personal possession, our diary. You've shared our last year in high school with us.

Our caps and gowns have arrived. We've been practicing for our commencement exercises, but it still doesn't seem possible that we are leaving high school . . . Let's just take a few minutes for a final look-around

The lab looks kind of deserted, but it still smells faintly of H₂S Mr. Seese has put away his batteries and wires Same stuff on the bulletin board that was there in September typing room is in perfect order, too perfect the fountain still shoots up like a geyser (remember how we called it "Old Faceful"?). . . no assignments on Miss Loucks' board; it looks rather unnatural the U. N. flag we senior girls made still hangs alone on the wall of Mr. Ronco's classroom there is Mr. Moffett's "white" blackboard. We never did get him any black chalk . . . Good-bye, old school, good-bye.

Possibly it's old-fashioned to quote poetry, but sometimes the things we feel can be expressed that way, So

*Goodbye, we say it for an hour or for years
Say it smiling, say it choked with tears,
Say it coldly, say it with a kiss
And yet we have no other word than this—goodbye.*

TO THE PATRONS OF THE SCOTTIE

The Scottie staff members in behalf of the Class of 1951 thank those who made this volume possible by advertising in its pages. Advertisers have helped to pay for the 1951 edition of the Scottie. Class members as well as underclassmen can show their appreciation by patronizing these business houses when possible.

. . . . the appliances most women want most"

GENERAL ELECTRIC APPLIANCES

HELLO! We're here—and we'll be in business for a long time—because we sell the appliances that women everywhere prefer—General Electric.

Space Maker Refrigerators, push-button ranges, electric dishwashers, automatic washers and ironers—they're only a few of the many modern General Electric appliances that you'll find in our store.

Whether you'd like a demonstration of the work these appliances can save you . . . or whether you'd like to just look around, come in and see us. We're here to serve you.

WHO ARE YOUR FRIENDS?

Young folks do not always remember that they are often judged by the company they keep. The world looks upon the friends we associate with, and registers us accordingly. It is therefore important for us to choose proper friends and to be cautious about losing them by serious engagement.

This friendly thought was taken from John Wanamaker's writings and we sincerely hope it will guide you into many worthwhile friendships throughout life.
